It is the class of 1994's pleasure to dedicate this volume of the Centurion to Mr. Frank Morline.

Mr. Morline
as a young man

This years dedication goes to one of the most loved teachers in the South Windsor school system. He has been in the system for twenty-eight years and has been here at South Windsor High School for ten years.

For those of you who know him, you respect his intelligence, his great sense of humor, and his good perspective on life.

For those of you haven't been lucky enough to have him as a teacher you don't know what you're missing. He teaches Biology, Chemistry & Physics. He is said to be one of the most respected teachers by his students as well as his fellow colleagues. Everyone has nothing but praise for this fine man, teacher, and friend.

When we entered the halls of South Windsor High School our freshman year, the construction began. It is now four years later and the construction is over.

Our freshman year was just a foundation, a beginning of sorts. It was the beginning of the rest of our lives. Throughout our four years of high school we have been molded into strong, young individuals with many ideas about life. Now we are seniors. It is time for us to say good-bye to the new halls and classrooms. Now we have to be strong and stand on our own.

We are the first class to graduate from the new South Windsor High School. It seems the construction has followed us through all four of our years here. Helping us to grow and change. Getting us ready to build a life of our own.

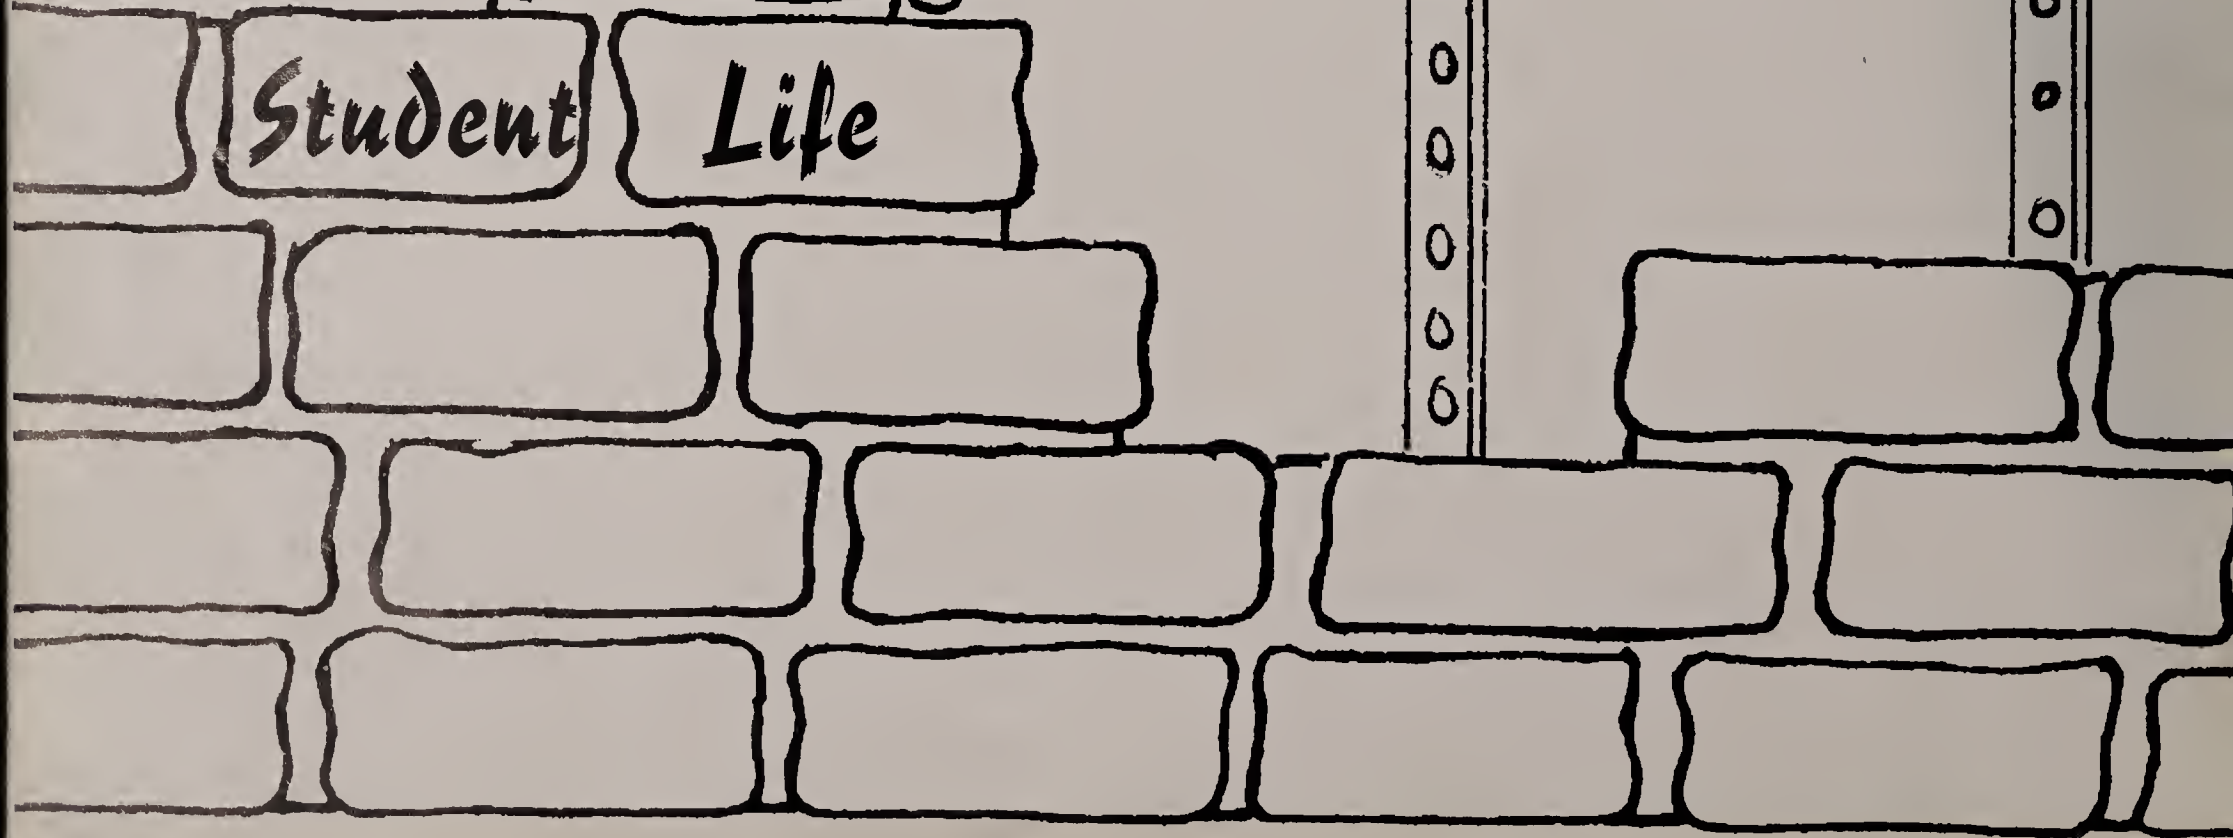

The final brick has been placed and it is time for us to leave.

Student Life

Students lead busy lives outside of the classroom. Many students have after school jobs or they just hang out with friends. Other students get involved in the various clubs that our school has to offer. There is always something going on at school, whether it be a football game or a play. Even though school is a learning environment, it is also about hanging with good friends and making new ones. An equal balance between studies and recreation make the students time spent at SWHS rewarding.

Pvt. Caldwell in formation after graduation.

Over the summer Marsha trained at Fort Jackson, South Carolina for her career in the military. During her eight weeks there, she was trained to do everything from using a bayonet to shooting an M16 A2 rifle to throwing a live grenade. "When I was going through it, all I wanted to do was go home, but when the time came to leave I wanted to stay!" She will continue her training next summer to become a Medical Specialist at Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, Texas.

Clubs

At SWHS there is always the opportunity to join one or more of the many clubs that are offered. Clubs are a great way to get involved, meet new people, or expand on personal interests.

There is a club for almost any interest. The clubs range from Drama Club to Literary Magazine to Global Awareness. Clubs provide students with a way to learn, or to just have fun.

Global Awareness

Global Awareness is a group of environmentally active students who are dedicated to addressing recycling, student awareness, and concerns of a global nature such as deforestation.

The members of Global Awareness have divided themselves into various committees that plan projects concerning environmental problems on a large scale as well as local concerns. The student officers, Rachelle Nashner, Liz Bernat and Jeff Stead work hard to keep members focused on the task at hand.

Amnesty International

Amnesty International is a human rights organization that focuses energies on ending human rights offenses all over the world.

The members of Amnesty write letters to governments that commit human rights offenses. They also educate themselves and members of the student body and faculty about basic rights that they believe each and every human being is granted at birth.

The student officers, Rachelle Nashner and Liz Bernat effectively lead Amnesty members in the battle against human rights violation around the world.

Right: Being in the great out-of-doors is part of the Outing club. Mr. Cloutman and Ms. Cloutier have been in charge of the Outing club for the past four years and provide a wide range of activities.

Outing Club

The South Windsor Outing Club is a fun, enjoyable club. The large size of this club, which consists of over one hundred members, enables them to have at least one activity a month. During ski season, ski trips are planned weekly and there is the annual trip to Canada for two days of great skiing.

The Outing Club also climbs mountains, canoes rivers, skies mountain trails, goes horseback riding, white water rafting, fishing, country line dancing, and enjoys hayrides. The club is willing to try any and all activities.

There are one or two meetings a year to talk over potential ideas. The Outing Club provides an ideal environment for getting to know other students better and for making new friends. The bottom line is that the Outing Club is fun.

Student Council

Student Council is the student government of SWHS. They plan events for the school and help out in the community. Caryn Lamm is the president, with Kim McVey, Jay Stairs, Tracey Solomson and Shalini Kantayya being the other officers.

The Student Council sponsors dances, helps out during the Open House by serving refreshments and acts as tour guides. They also coordinate Spirit Week and the Homecoming Court. They help the homeless by volunteering at a soup kitchen in Rockville on a monthly basis. In addition, the Student Council organizes the annual can drive against Rockville and participate in fund-raisers such as the Jingle Bell Walk for Arthritis.

Two delegates attend the Annual Governor's Youth Action Conference each year and there are exchanges with Student Councils from other high schools.

Mock Trial

Mock Trial deals with our judicial system. Students play the roles of prosecutors, defense attorneys, and witnesses for both sides of a case. They learn about the kinds of questions to ask witnesses and the ways of being successful lawyers. In January the group gets a case file. They develop the case with the help of a local attorney.

The mock trial takes place in a court type setting and lasts two days. One day the team is the prosecution, the other day they are the defense. The team is judged on how well it presents its cases.

The team meets three times a week. One day the defenders meet, the next the prosecutors and then they meet together to compare notes.

SWAT

The South Windsor Ambassador team, advised by Mr. Marchetti and Mrs. Decker, is a group of students who give of themselves to advise and help others. The members are involved with the new student breakfast, ushering for concerts and plays, the annual blood drive, various fund raisers and assisting with the orientation of new students.

Members of SWAT must complete a minimum of four service hours a month. Some members act as tutors or candy strippers to fulfill the requirement.

"It gives other people a good incentive to help people out, and it gives me the boost to get active in the school and the community," sophomore Kelley Gerrity said.

Money raised by SWAT goes back to the community or to worthy charities.

NEML/CAML

The members of the New England Mathematics League meet six times a year in order to take a thirty minute test. The test is composed of six questions involving problem solving skills. The five best scores from each meet are submitted and compared to approximately thirty other high schools in Connecticut. NEML is open to any student who wishes to take part in the test.

The members of the Capitol Area Math League engage in more preparational activities than the members of NEML. Students join CAML at the beginning of the school year and compete at six meets, both at home and at other high schools.

Stiff competition is provided by the CAML members from about 33 other high school in the Greater Hartford area. Each meet consists of five rounds of competition and a team round. First and second place trophies are awarded each year to the top two teams. South Windsor High School was awarded the second place trophy last year.

Bike Club

The Bike Club is rolling weekly, offering both road and mountain bike rides.

The advisors are Mr. Graner and Mr. Mothersele. The group rides on the roads of South Windsor and travel to such places as Shanipset State Forest, Valley Falls and Soapstone Mountain in Somers.

Planned for this spring is a weekend of camping and biking. Members decide individually the distance and danger they are willing to face. Many members also enjoy mudding. Others use the club to train for competition.

Biking is a great way to get in shape. The Bike Club is open to any student or teacher at any time during the year.

Technical Crew

The technical crew offers technical support to all groups using the auditorium/theater. They design sets design and run lights and design and run the sound system. The tech crew also designs tickets programs and promotional materials. They act as a stage crew during plays, musicals, concerts, dance recitals, and meetings. This year the tech crew is involved in productions like "Guys and Dolls".

The membership of the tech crew changes throughout the school year, as many students volunteer to work on various productions. Some students even join the tech crew at the end of the school year to assist in graduation setup.

Drama Club

The Drama Club put on three stage productions per year, two straight plays, one in the fall and one in May, and a musical in March. Productions this year include Guys and Dolls, the Neil Simon comedy Rumors, and The Man who Came to Dinner.

The Drama Club has use of the new auditorium, which allows them to put on more elaborate productions. For each production, all students have the opportunity to audition for parts. Once roles are casted, actors and actresses have between two and three months to rehearse.

Two performances of Rumors were put on before a full house. Seniors Jeff Stead and Carolyn Smiledge played the lead roles in this play about suspicion and how things appear on the surface. The plot involves the anniversary party of a prominent citizen. The guests attempt to cover up a bizzare situation and a barrage of rumors ensues. At the close of the play the truth is still unknown.

"Guys and Dolls" was considered one of the best musicals in the history of the school. Seniors Rachelle Nashner and Jeff Stead played lead roles with many others giving excellent singing, acting and dancing performances.

The Model United Nations Club was formed for the first time this year with Mr. Hotchkiss as the advisor. Each student works within a delegation to represent a member of the United Nations. This year the countries represented were the Ukraine, Slovenia, Belgium, Cote D'Ivoire and Nicaragua.

Preparation requires much independent study, resolution writing, interviewing of mission staff in New York, and the actual debate and voting process at a Model United Nations annually at the University of Hartford and Harvard University. This is several days of meetings with the student teams from around the state, or around the world respectively.

The whole effort is meant to replicate the scope and substance of the real United Nations. Students learn a great deal about other cultures, international issues, the democratic process and about their own capacity for leadership and world citizenship.

National Honor Society

The William R. Wood Chapter of the National Honor Society consists of students with the qualities of scholarship, character, service and leadership. This year, the club completed two service projects. They helped the Habitat for Humanity, an organization which builds low income houses, as well as helping out at a soup kitchen in Rockville. NHS also provides tutoring for the student body.

Harambee

Harambee is a Swahili word which means "let's all join together". The goal of Harambee is to promote multiculturalism in South Windsor High School. By doing this they will insure that students of all ethnic backgrounds learn to live and work together. They will attempt to achieve this goal through knowledge. This includes Cultural Education, speakers, trips and research. Secondly, this will be accomplished through collaboration and intense discussion on relevant multicultural issues of today. It is the hope of this club that through these two methods, individuals will develop a new respect for other cultures and their own fellow students.

Literary Magazine

Each year the Literary Magazine creates a collection of works from students at SWHS called "In My Mind's Eye". Meetings are held two or three times a month to read and discuss submissions. Poems and short stories can be submitted in a box located in the library and the group asks English teachers to suggest exceptional work. The Literary Magazine is looking for emotion, feeling and style in the selections. The intent is to include a variety of types of students in the final production, meaning students at all levels and special needs students.

Faculty

At South Windsor High School you will find a dedicated faculty and staff. These teachers and staff members always have the students in mind when making decisions on school policy or teaching classes. They do their best to make our time here a memorable one and an educational experience. They are available as much as possible to students who need extra help or just want to talk to someone about their problems.

Teachers and staff spend countless hours helping students plan for the future and provide them with the tools necessary to make their future successful. Our faculty makes it possible for students to place that "final brick in the wall."

Academics

At SWHS classses are far from boring. Each class provides students with something unique and exciting. Also, students have the opportunity to take classes that differ from the usual academic classes.

Classes such as Guitar, Pottery, and Yearbook assist in making students well-rounded individuals and allow students to study what interests them. Some classes may be difficult at times, but for what you learn, it's all worthwhile.

“Get out of my chair!”

I had never really heard a teacher who was able to talk with such authority and still have the respect of their students until this year's yearbook class. And I must admit that at first I was a little bit taken back.

Despite the way we talk to each other we all get along very well and we accomplish everything that is vital to producing this yearbook. The layouts were designed, the stories were written, and the ads and yearbooks were sold. Notice that I didn't say that it was done on time, but that it was done.

There were also a few very important lessons that I learned along the way. First, if you leave a picture on a table where everyone can see it, don't expect to ever find it again. Second, if Mr. Myette has a Coke on the table, don't get too close, it tends to spill. Third, NEVER, and I mean NEVER rip up a receipt, even if it's blank. Fourth, if you save your files on a disk, and you can't retrieve them, it's your own fault. Last, despite popular belief the A's aren't just given, they really have to be earned.

I know for a fact that not every one is good at everything, but you don't have to be. There are so many things that need to be done that you will always be able to find something you are good at. Trust me. There is business, editing, design, photography, and cropping, and no one person can do it all.

I don't think that I mentioned the fact that you need to stay after school about once a week. But don't get me wrong, that's probably when you have the most fun. Everyone has loosened up and there isn't a lot of stress. We stay until 7 or 8 pm and break for dinner around 6, 5:30 if enough people whine.

Okay, now you may be thinking I don't think that this class is for me. Well, you could be right. But, if you're willing to work, ask for help when you need it, and, you love the feeling of self gratification when you see what all your hard work has helped to create, then you would really enjoy this class.

"Yearbook gave me the opportunity to explore my interest in journalism, advertising, and leadership. It's an elective that offers a wide range of different activities that aren't only fun, but also open the doors to an array of careers. The trip to New York gave me a chance to meet and talk with other yearbook editors from across the country. Oh yeah, Mr. Nelson and Mr. Myette are the best!"

Brittany King 1994

"It's really interesting to learn how everything must be done to put the yearbook together. Now I can appreciate the effort that goes into the production of the Centurion. I found that it was a long and grueling process. However, Mr. Nelson was always there to help teach us how to use the Mac's and in the overall production."

Southwinds

After first period, the Journalism students find their way down to room 11. For some of them Journalism is the most exciting class of the day.

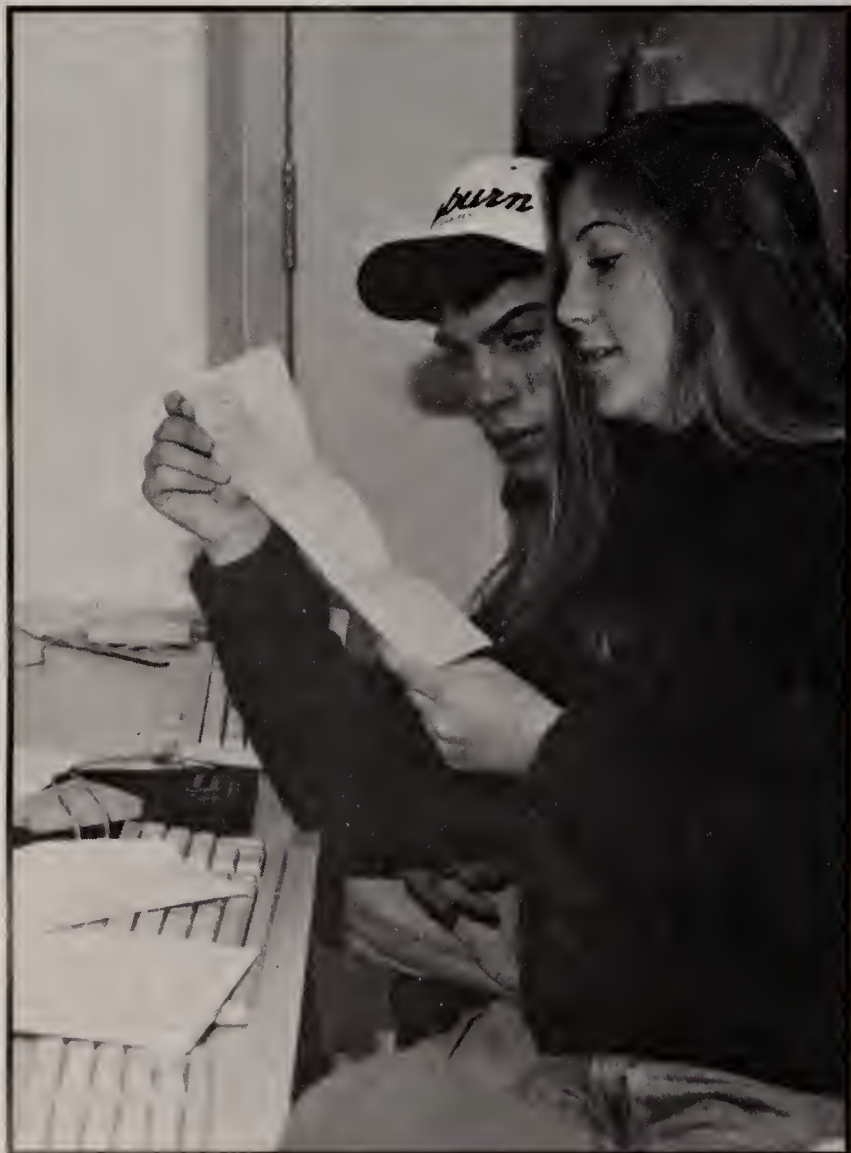

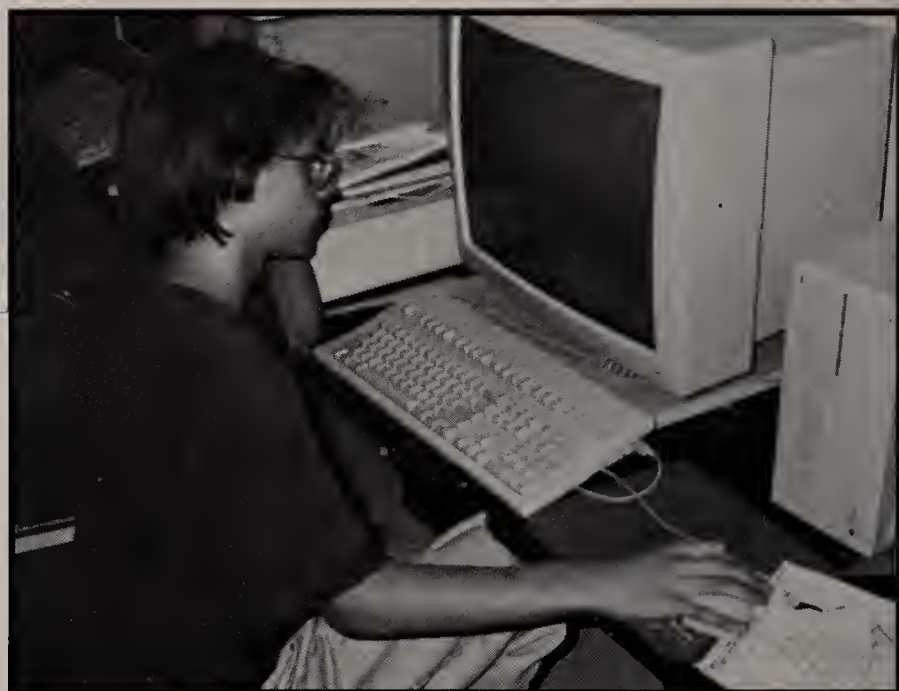

After the usual good morning grunt from Mr. Nelson, and the cheery, up-beat pep talk from Mr. Colpitts, they all set out to accomplish their main goal, to write and produce the school newspaper.

This is not as easy as some may think. It takes a lot of work on both the writing and production ends. With three weeks to go before deadline, students start typing in their stories, and with a week to go there is a mad dash for the computers for those people that didn't plan ahead.

Production is a bit different. This is pulled off in three days or so with people running around like chickens with their heads cut off. And after the paper is printed the pressmen battle over who is the better printer.

The day the paper is released, the entire staff inserts one four page spread into the other. They laugh at titles, comment on stories, and of course, pick out any mistakes or typo's. They scurry upstairs and put out the paper, knowing that in a few minutes people throughout the school are going to be reading their articles. Then, they all sit back, and smile with some kind of look in their eyes. Maybe it's pride, or maybe it's a smile of relief. No matter what it is, they all know that the whole process will soon start again.

Journalism class did something for all of them. Whether it taught them how to become better writers or taught them how to clean Bordeaux red ink off the press. Whether it helped some of them to build stronger friendships, one thing this class did do was teach them how to work together—that alone may have been the greatest thing they got out of the class.

Choral Music

Look out Broadway, 'cause here they come!

We can all tell which students belong to one of these groups. They are the ones who are always singing in the halls, classrooms, and on the busses. Their voices have this effect that causes almost everyone to listen intently. They are also the same students that pester you until you finally cave in and buy a candy bar or two, so that they can afford to go to their next national competition. All the vocal groups have an extraordinary amount of talent.

This year's Vocal Ensemble has over 60 students. The group performs many concerts throughout the year. In the many competitions in which they participated, they have placed very close to the top. This year's group is very good at working together and that is what helps them to achieve their goals and win awards.

Choral Spectrum is a select group of 26 students all with a lot of talent. Admission into this group is granted only after a highly competitive audition. The students who are selected put in many hours of hard work, a certain dedication and a lot of self-discipline, and must commit to practice several hours a week. Like the Vocal Ensemble, Choral Spectrum sings in many competitions and also put on many different concerts, including the Cabaret Concert in the fall.

One amazing thing about each one of these students is that they are all able to look beyond the mistakes that get made occasionally and see that not everyone is perfect. They all work as hard as they can to give one hundred percent of themselves all the time, which is something that should be truly admired by everyone. They are good representatives of the students in our school and they do a great job showing everyone else just what kind of school we have.

Peer Advocates

While I was walking down the hallway between the guidance office and the cafeteria I noticed a poster with the names and pictures of this year's Peer Advocates. If you are like me, the first time you saw it you were probably baffled as to what the heck they did. I decided to ask around and eventually I found the answer. They are a group of specially trained students who take time out of their busy schedules to help other students work through their problems.

In order for the students to become Peer Advocates they must have first completed a course called foundations in counseling. In that class they were taught how to deal with certain issues and the manner in which they should act. And it's not as easy as it may sound. There are very strict demands that each student must meet, the first one is that they must have recieved a recommendation from their guidance counselor.

After they complete the one year course they each take turns staffing "the room", which is located inside the guidance office. (If you need any help finding it just ask one of the secretaries.) They willingly give up their study hall so that there is alays someone there to help you with your problems.

Okay, I can probably answer your one major question now. Yes, they are required to keep everything that you tell them confidential. So, you don't have to worry about the whole school knowing about your problem by the end of the day. And, they won't force anything on you. They may offer you some suggestions, but, they are not going to force you to do anything that you don't want to do.

English

Where can you take part in a heated discussion over the meaning of Shakespeare, act out your rendition of The Crucible, or watch the black and white version of The Lord of the Flies which was made in 1963? The English department of course! Students not only participate in classroom activities, but, they also have the opportunity to go on a variety of field trips.

In most of the classes students usually read a novel, short story, or other literary work, journal it, and then watch the movie based on the book. I'll admit that the reading and journaling parts are probably the hardest, and at times duller, things that you'll ever have to do. But, when you get to watch the movie and see the way the movie differs from the way that you pictured it in your own imagination, it really makes you wonder about what it would have looked like had you been the producer.

Despite the fact that English is probably one of the classes that requires the most work, when you are finished, you are always left with a piece of writing that you can be proud of. I don't think that after writing a story I have ever felt that it wasn't something that I could be proud of. When you think about it after all the confrencing and revising that gets done to one piece of writing, how could it be anything other than perfect?

All of the students in grades 9, 10, and 11 are given certain classes that they must take and pass in order to continue on in the same level. Seniors on the other hand are given a variety of courses to choose from. So, even if Creative Writing or Ap English doesn't appeal to you there are still many other classes available to choose from.

Below: This group of freshmen concentrates while they consider possible ways of translating the Old-English of William Shakespeare's Romeo and Juliet into English that they can understand.

Foreign language

Hola! Bonjour! Salve! The three foreign languages offered here at South Windsor High School are Spanish, French, and Latin, although some students would argue that you could include English on that list as well. In each of these classes the students are supposed to learn not only the language, but, the culture of that country as well. From the French exchange program to the Latin archeological digs throughout the summer to the trip to Spanish trip to Spain, all students have the opportunity to explore, in person, the differences and similarities of a country other than the United States.

Throughout the year we saw each class doing many different things to keep themselves busy. The Spanish students worked together to raise money and to gather school supplies and toiletries for their friends in Ocotlán. They sold jewelry, set up collection bins, and made poster after poster. Then after everything was collected, it had to be packaged and mailed. What a chore!

The French students celebrated Mardi Gras by having a huge party. Students were responsible for cooking food, with French origins of course, and then bringing it to school for the rest of the class to eat. The students were also able to watch French movies. The catch to this, these movies had no subtitles.

Now for the Latin students. Every Friday you can see a heated match of Latin jeopardy, better known to the students as Certamen. They watch movies such as Ben-Hur, and, like the French students they have a food day! The same rules apply.

Addios! Aurevoir! Vale!

Adult Living

In Adult Living students learn a variety of things that they will find helpful after graduation. The students take part in candid discussions about sex, drugs, and other issues that will play an important roles in their adult lives in the '90s. The students also take part in a variety of projects including the "parenting" project and a "mock" wedding.

During the class, students are required to think and express their feelings about the issues which are discussed. They learn a lot about each other and the feelings that are felt by their generation. This class also offers the student a unique opportunity to express their opinions and hear those of other students.

Through guest speakers from the South Windsor Police Department the students learned about the consequences of drug use. They are also made aware of the options available to them if they or someone they know has a drug abuse problem.

Other guest speakers included teenage parents. With teenage pregnancy hitting epidemic proportions, the teachers thought that a good way to discourage the students from engaging in unprotected sex would be to let them see what can happen. When the parents came in they told the students the good and the bad aspects to being a parent while still a teenager. Students were able to ask questions and get honest answers.

The topics are topics that you wouldn't expect to talk about in any other classroom. But, most of the students who take this class enjoyed the discussions, but found that at first they were easily embarrassed.

Above: During a recent question and answer period an officer from the S.W. police department volunteered her time to answer questions students had.

Child Development

When someone is talking about the youngest students in this school, I generally think about the freshmen, and I am usually wrong. The children that attend the Learning Center are between the ages of three and four, which makes them younger than the freshmen. The teachers of these children are students from South Windsor High School. In the Child Care class the students plan snacks, projects, and design the bulletin boards.

In Child Development the students are also responsible for planning projects and then teaching them to the children. The students are also responsible for taking the students outside, and making sure that they stay safe while they are there. Which I know from experience, is not quite as easy as it sounds. Trying to keep fourteen or fifteen youngsters who are running in a million different directions is not easy!

Art

While looking through the course selection book, you will notice that there is quite a variety of courses to choose from. So, even if you're not artistically inclined, you will almost always find an art course that you are good at. Pottery, jewelry, painting, and drawing are just a few. Once you have completed an art course, there are many advanced courses that build on the skills that you have already learned.

Applied Technology

Did you ever think that you could videotape yourself in Holland, without ever leaving the school? Well, it is a very real possibility in video production class.

And with the Applied Technology classes that are offered here you can design and print your own stationary, design a new t-shirt, learn how airplanes fly, or the newest technology used in manufacturing production.

Buisness

Picture yourself sitting in front of a computer, your typed report is due tommorow and you don't even know how to turn the thing on. Finally with the computer on, you set out to type the report, hunting and pecking using the one finger method. Or, while balancing your checkbook, which is overdrawn as usual, you realize that a check you ripped up and threw out was cashed. And whoever cashed it not only signed your name, but, also made the check out for a total of $500.00! Then you remember that if you had taken accounting with Mr. Myette, you would have known that you never rip a check, just write VOID across it.

Right then and there, you promise yourself that next year you are going to take those keyboarding and accounting courses. These are just two of the classes that make up the Buisness department. And believe me, they may not seem important now, but just wait. Someday you'll know what everyone was talking about while they were lecturing you on the importance of these classes!

Math,

Where can you learn that an equiangular triangle is also equilateral. Or, how to use a graphics calculator? In the math department, of course!

And there are a variety of courses to chose from including algebra, trigonometry, calculus, career math, and elementary functions.

Underclassmen

Juniors

Juniors have grown up since their first day at SWHS and have learned much about themselves and the world around them. Now they are prepared to enter their final year without hesitation.

Sophomores

Freshmen

The members of the Freshmen class may be the youngest students in the school, but that doesn't seem to make a difference to them.

They do not hesitate to get involved in the high school community.

Pam Salisbury and Eric Rivard spend time with each other at lunch.

Underclassmen

The underclassmen get heavily involved in all that SWHS has to offer. Many underclassmen play sports, serve on student council, or take part in the many clubs and activities that are available to them. They work hard to get good grades and contribute diverse ideas and perspectives to our high school community.

Sports

Students have the opportunity to participate in everything from football and soccer to field hockey and cross country. You name it, we've got it!

Our teams are highly competitive in the state and provide students a chance to improve their athletic skills, as well as learn the importance of teamwork.

South Windsor's coaches give their all in order to create an atmosphere where athletes can become confident in their abilities and learn to give 110%.

Boys' Cross Country

Sprinting to the finish line!

The boys' cross country team put in a lot of hard work to make their season great, despite being a very young team. Led by Senior tri-captains Mike Salcius, Ken Miller, and Dan Sauer, the Bobcats ran to a 8-4 season.

Senior Marc Engelson, the #2 runner, commented, "We have a lot of promising freshmen, sophomores, and juniors on the team."

Sophomore Mike Danahy was the #1 runner. Other key runners were Junior Nate Goard, along with Freshmen Chris Smith and Casey Hannon.

Girls' Cross Country

Running ahead of the pack!

The girls' cross country team had a successful season, with a winning record of 10-4.

The team was plagued with injuries throughout the season, but they didn't let that stop them. They just ran faster and harder, proving that they were a very competitive team, able and willing to take on anyone.

With tremendous improvements from last year by everyone, especially Lauren Tremblay and Monica Wilcos, the team was able to come away with a feeling of accomplishment and a sense of pride for being up to the challenge.

Class L STATE CHAMPS!

The girls' field hockey team had their most successful season ever! During the regular season, goalie Kerry Gilsenan only allowed three goals against the Bobcats. Captains Lisa Shiffler and Sarah Hughes led their team to the State Tournament. The girls won their first state game against New Milford. They then went on to beat Greenwich.

Their last game against Cheshire was a high point for the girls. The team has never won a state championship before. It was a great accomplishment and a dream come true for the graduating seniors.

"The seniors have wanted this since seventh grade. The game was so intense; I was really scared when Cheshire was leading with five minutes left in the game. We wanted this more than anything," commented Justina Myette.

Football

New Stadium, New Season, Old Results!

This year the football team finished the season with a 5-5 record. The first season on the new field was a frustrating one with a disappointing ending.

The seniors put a lot into this year and helped keep the team together while playing some quality opponents. The season ended with a downer as the Bobcats lost to Rockville. To end on that note was disappointing.

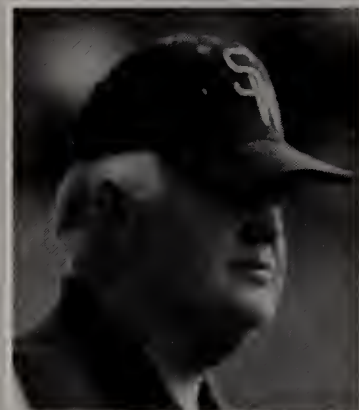

"Our win of 38-24 against East Hartford (8-2) was the highlight of the season. We really dominated from the second quarter on," commented Coach McCarroll.

In the majority of the games the Bobcats were looking strong going into the fourth quarter but were eventually taken down by the opposing team. After three consecutive losses in the beginning of the season, the Bobcats made a comeback and continued to play consistently throughout the rest of the season.

"These past 16 years have brought me a lot of fond memories. It's a pleasure to have my career end with this year's Seniors who are very special to me."

"I have known Coach Duclos since he was 14. I saw him grow and develop into one of the finest high school teachers. He's very special to me."

The boys' soccer team exceeded Coach Longo's expectations to post a winning season this year. Their record of 8-7-1 allowed them to enter the State Tournament in which they beat Maloney 3-0 and lost to Farmington 1-0.

"This season was a very pleasant surprise to us and the whole CCC East, coming off a horrendous season in '92," said senior tri-captain Brian Jacques. He and the other two tri-captains, Joe Lenehan and Eric Stillman, gave the team the strong leadership they needed to keep the team together throughout their "roller coaster season," according to junior Dan Jordan. Numerous injuries caused the team to fall off track through most of the season, but once everyone was healthy, they were able to pull themselves back together. With the young prospects on the team, next year is looking really good for the Bobcats.

CCC East Champs!

The girls' soccer team, led by captains Melissa Salisbury, Tracey Solomson, and Tracey Santos, had one of the best seasons this school has seen in a while. Select coaches vote on the top ten teams in the state, and the Bobcats recieved ten!

The team's biggest win of the season was beating Manchester. The last time this occurred was in 1985. It made the team tied for Conference Champs.

"Beating Manchester was one of our greatest accomplishments. We wanted to win badly. By playing as a team we won the game!" said captain Melissa Salisbury.

The team ended their season with a 13-4 record. Although they didn't make it all the way in states, the girls broke many team records this year. It was a great '93 season!

This year the volleyball team finished with an outstanding 14-6 record, allowing the Bobcats to qualify for the state tournament. Beating the undefeated Fermi and making it to the second round of play in the tournament were the team's greatest achievements. In the first game, the team beat 23rd ranked Norwalk, where Caty Maclean and Loretta Giansanti played well. In the final game against New Fairfield the team struggled to stay alive, getting help from Heather Ohliger, Jess Cadwallader, and Melissa Stula.

Senior Kari Laube said, "The team had the usual up's and down's of a season, but overall we did very well." The volleyball team hopes that next year they can accomplish the same level of excellence and go even further.

Cheerleading

Brings new spirit to Bobcat fans!!!

This year the Bobcat fans seemed to have a lot more spirit thanks to the varsity cheerleading squad and their new coach, Patricia Noga. Their season started when they attended summer camp at Southern CT State University. Under the leadership of senior captains Jessica Dreiblatt and Alyssa Strano, they were able to bring home a Superior Squad trophy, and Jessica Dreiblatt won an All-Star competition.

The SWHS cheerleaders have the longest season of any other sport as they cheered for football, boys' soccer, and boys' basketball. Because of Mrs. Maresh's new idea to promote Bobcat spirit, the cheerleaders also cheered at a girls' soccer game, a field hockey game, a volleyball game, a x-country meet, a girls' basketball game, and a gymnastics meet.

This year's squad also included the addition of 5 guys (Sean Yates, Jay Ball, Ken Davidson, Tim Cone, and Jon Giordano) who helped liven their performance. The cheerleaders were able to perform more exciting and daring stunts.

Boys' Basketball

Boys jam their way to States!!!

"We had a good season. We had a good bunch of kids," said Coach Barcher of the boys' varsity basketball team this year.

The team tied with Windham and East Hartford for 3rd place in the CCC East which is a tough conference. The senior tri-captains Matt Landry, Justin Adams, and Nick Hermes led the team into the State Tournament with a record of 11-9. They played the best game of the season in a disappointing loss to Bassik. It was also the first time that SWHS ever hosted a States game for boys' basketball.

Matt Landry was an All-Conference player this year and the 10th leading scorer of all time at SWHS. Other key players were senior Eric Stillman who broke 4 school records and led the team in 3 pointers. Justin Adams was another key contributor and the second leading scorer for the team.

Matt Landry commented, "Despite our disappointing record, we finished the season strong. Everyone was together and we had a great year. I think we have some talented prospects for next year."

Girls' Basketball

Shooting for a winning season!

The girls basketball team had a tough season. With the injury of senior Jamilia Billie the team had to compensate for her loss. But with the leadership and experience of senior captain Caty MacLean and the ability of freshman Cristi Carbone the team tried its hardest. Tracey Krajewski and Cristi Carbone, nicknamed the twin towers, pulled down many rebounds to help the Bobcats. With many young players the team hopes for a better record next year.

The Bobcat gymnastic team ended their best season ever with a 9-6 record and capped it off with a fifth place finish in the state meet. The team was led by senior co-captains Jess Aman and Jen Farinella.

"The success of the team was due to the whole group," stated Coach Candee. It was a very good year for this talented group, showing team effort, encouraging each other and working hard to overcome their difficulties."

"I am so proud of the team this year. We all worked so hard, and it showed by being the first gymnastic team in the school's history to qualify for States," said senior co-captain Jen Farinella.

Hockey

Skating on Thin Ice!

This year's hockey team ended with a record of 3-17. Although this record didn't bring them to states, it was a learning experience for the team.

"One of our biggest problems was that we would go into the game with the wrong attitude. We would start off thinking we had already won, so we wouldn't play our hardest," said senior Jason Hoyne.

The team had a lot of companionship and cooperation. They helped each other on the ice. Hopefully the team will benefit from this next year.

"The best game was against Rockville. We played all areas of the game with a team effort," commented Jason.

This is Jason's first year playing as a senior. He was a helpful asset to the team this year. Although he enjoyed his first year as goalie, he wishes he had started sooner.

Jason Farmette uses his skills to maneuver the puck towards the goal.

Seniors

Just four years ago as Freshmen at South Windsor High we were the foundation of our high school years. At the same time foundations were being laid to begin construction to expand the school. Sophomore year was just another brick to help build us up, so we could climb on in our quest for the future. Construction of the school was progressing as each new brick was added. As our Junior year came, we knew we would soon reach the final stage of our high school years just as it wouldn't be long before the construction of our school would reach it's final stages. Senior year came along, During which time the construction of the improved South Windsor High was completed. The Senior class was there to watch our school being constructed from start to finish. Now the time has come for the class of 1994 to graduate and put the final brick in the wall.

2/22/76 – 11/06/93

A time of farewells
A time of sadness
and a time of crying should all be gone by now.

I know I'm gone
yet not forgotten.
I know I'm missed
yet remembered.

And even though you cannot see me
I'm still there.
I do not want you to cry
And say you lost a friend.

I'm not lost
Lost is where you don't know where something is you know where I am
I'm in your dreams, your feelings, your memories

The times I've cared
The times I've cried
The times I've laughed
The times I've lied.

Yet now is the hardest
because I have died.
Yet I'm still here
and always I will be...

...deep down inside.

Do not stand at my
grave and weep,
I am not there,
I do not sleep.
I am a thousand
winds that blow;
I am the diamond
glints in snow.

I am the sunlight on
ripened grain;
I am the gentle
autumn's rain.

When you awaken in
the morning's hush,
I am the swift
uplifting rush

Of quiet birds in circled flight.
I am the soft star that shines at night.
Do not stand at my
grave and cry.
I am not there;

I did not die.

Henry Syphers

3/8/76 – 10/21/92

I lift up my eyes towards the sky
Now one questions remains;
that question is Why?
I can't find an answer, or express my pain
Only my memories remain.
Sometimes you wish you had said something
Anything at all
I wish with him at his final fall.
There's a part of me gone, a piece from my soul
I felt it leave me as he grew cold.
Now everyone is telling me to get on with my life
How can I go on when I'm afraid to turn out the light?
How can they tell me how I feel?
Sometimes I don't think it's real.
I knew him from the beginning,
and was with him to the end.
God, I guess it's supposed to hurt
this bad
when you lose a friend.

Faces

Sarah Hughes, Debbie Beaulieu and Gyna Slomsinsky relax after winning a field hockey game.

Work

This year 75% of the senior class has a part-time job. Your Senior year, being your most exciting year, isn't as easy as most students think. College is constantly on your mind, essays pile up, and yet seniors still find time for part-time jobs.

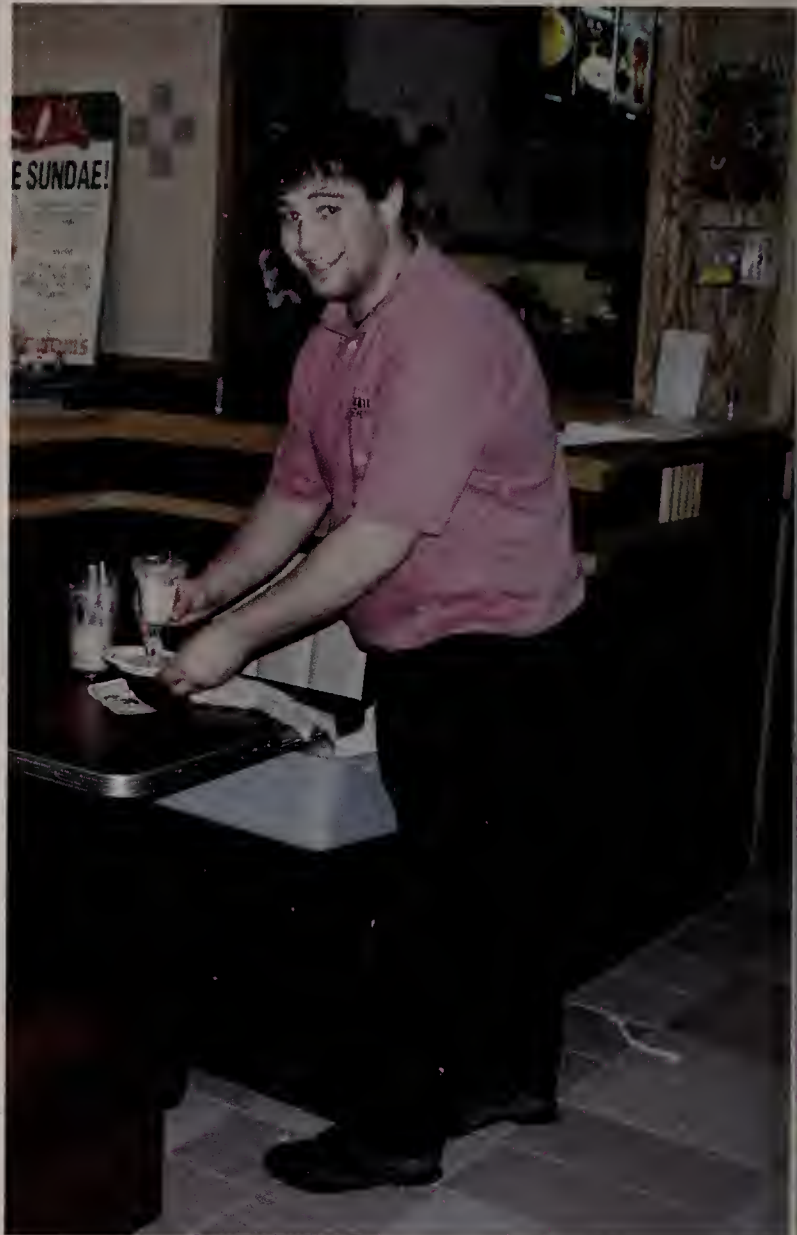

Alyssa Strano, who works at Munson's Candy store in the mall, says, "Working was really time consuming, but I made money and it's tons of fun, so it's worth it."

Although it seems that students work just for money, Jen Round states, "It gives you the experience needed to excell later on in life." Jeff Nelson looks at working in a different way and adds, "To work is to show more responsibility to yourself and dedication to your job. It gives you a lot of extra spending money."

Vacations

Vacations were the most exiting part of the school year for Seniors. Then there was summer vacation-even better.

The summer before our senior year many students went on vacations together. Stephanie Jacques says, "Summer vacation was a blast I got away with my friends and just chilled." For those students who didn't have a blast on their vacations, Matt Greaves comments, "Vacations are what you make of them. You have no school and no obligation. If you don't have a good time, it's your fault. For some students vacation is just another time to make some money for the new car they've been hoping for or to save money for college. Others spend most of their money going on far away vacations or lots of ski trips.

Prom

The Junior Prom for the class of 1994 was a definite success. The theme of last years prom was "Oh What a Night". This came from the song by Frankie Valie and the Four Seasons. At the end most students realized that this was a great theme for their prom.

Most couples arrived at La Renaissance in limos to make the night extra special. The food was great for most people and dancing was the best part. Some comments from students were The cost wasn't a big factor because it was worth it. Finding a date was the hardest part. Everyone danced the whole night, and getting our pictures taken was so much fun.

The night ended quickly and students got a little tired from dancing so much. Stomachs were full of appetizers and drinks and most of the girls' feet hurt. Prom weekend was over and there were two days left. While some people were already on their way to the beach, others planned their great adventures for the next day.

"The prom was a night I couldn't wait for and it came and went so fast," stated Kristyn McIllduff. "It will be a time that I will remember forever."

"Prom weekend was the best time for me and my friends, even though I felt like I had a third degree burn after going to the beach," commented Nancie Layton.

Faces

Faces. Happy faces, sad faces, faces of winning the championship game, faces of loss in our senior class, faces at sports games, faces at the prom, faces of friends, and faces of enemies.

Over the past four years the class of 1994 has seen many faces. They come and go. But now we all must go. Some faces are leaving together and some apart. We are all headed for a new destination where we will meet new faces. But in our last year together, our class has come together to form...
